Rockland Woods, Durant Pond, and Silver Hill conservation parcels together provide over 100 acres of open space and they abut hundreds more acres of open space. The mature woods and wetlands have a well developed system of trails. The rocky top of Silver Hill affords distant views
" This area is one of the greatest secrets in Maynard. Walking here, I feel as if I am miles away from town."

↑ 2
Summer Hill trails lead through varied woods, over old stone walls, and past a perched wetlands.

3
The Assabet River Walk winds along the Assabet River, over a small rocky stream, and through a beech grove. Because of the proximity to the river, a diversity of wildlife is abundant in this area.

The School Woods offers over 50 acres of open space abutting the Assabet River National Wildlife Refuge. This area has a wide diversity of terrain including oak woods, hemlock groves, sheltered ponds, vernal pools, and brooks. Well-maintained trails allow for easy walking.

← 5
Glenwood Cemetary provides a network of paved and gravel roads through beautifully tree lined grounds. A trail around the perimeter of a large (now marshy) pond once provided for lovely walks and will be rehabilitated.
